Sewer Plan Cost Placed at $962,000

A master sewer plan for Sierra Madre which would cost approximately $962,000 was presented to the City Council Tuesday night for study.

The plan, prepared by the engineering firm of James M. Montgomery, divides the city into eight districts, City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington said it would be possible in some instances to sewer only part of a district, if necessary.

THE COST of sewerage in Sierra Madre would be borne by assessments against property owners. Bevington also pointed out that the Council has not yet had time to study the Montgomery plan. The Council also voted to assist the Chamber of Commerce in every way possible during a one-day rubbish cleanup, the date of which will be announced later.

The Chamber is sponsoring a cleanup drive, full details of which will be published next week.

IN OTHER action, the Council:

7. Appointed Mrs. Margaret Anthony to the Recreation Commission to succeed Hermon Ohs, whose term expired, and confirmed the School Board appointment to the Commission of Mrs. Nathan Jacobs.

2. Revised the dog license fee. Licenses for males and females will cost $3 in the future, instead of $2 for males and $4 for females as at present.

3. Discussed the high level reservoir, but did not decide on a location. The design of the site and other facilities will cost $7,500, according to the James Montgomery estimate.

Wm. Bowers Succumbs At 82

William Francis Bowers, whose "Long Beach whale" once attracted nationwide attention, died April 4 in the Sierra Madre Convalescent Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 82 years old.

A native of El Monte, he moved with his family to Long Beach where his father established the first mercantile store at Second and Locust Sts.

In his youth he and a friend brought in a huge beached whale and later mounted the skeleton for display at the end of the Long Beach pier.

For the past 12 years, Mr. Bowers lived in Compton with his wife, Florence, who once attracted nationwide attention. Other survivors are a son, Frank H. Bowers, a Sierra Madre artist who lives at 59 N. Baldwin; one sister, Mrs. Jessie Gunther, Long Beach; three grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Riple Mortuary Chapel, with Dr. Robert N. Schaper officiating. Interment was in Sunnyside Cemetery, Long Beach.

Who's Backwards Around Here? VFW Wonders

The local VFW, in its usual inimitable fashion, is sponsoring a "Backwards Dance" this Saturday night, starting at 9 o'clock in the clubhouse. Dance Chairman Art Erickson said the main idea is for everybody to wear his clothes backwards, if that is possible. Customers unaccustomed to such frivolity will be welcomed in conventional attire, said Mr. Erickson.

Guests will be the Sierra Madre Lions Club, taitwister and all, and the Toastmasters Club. No speeches permitted, admonished Mr. Erickson, since that would detract from the sale and consumption of the outstanding bourbons and ryes served up generously by the bartender, Tom Marchine.

Rally Today in Highland School

An all-camp rally for Sierra Madre Girl Scouts and Brownies and their mothers is scheduled this afternoon, from 4 to 5 o'clock, at the Sierra Madre School Auditorium.

Kit Cartwright, Pasadena area council camping director, will be present to discuss with the Scouts the camping opportunities that are offered over the summer months. Movies of the day camps, Singing Pines and Mission Ranch, will be shown.

Nursery School Enrollment Now Is Under Way

Parents interested in enrolling their children in the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School for either summer or fall of 1958 are advised to register them now.

Last year many parents were disappointed because they failed to register their children early enough. New children are enrolled in order of date of application.

Registration of a child on the waiting list does not obligate a parent. The child's name may later be removed if the parent has a change of plans.

Please call the Nursery School, ELgin 5-1655, preferably between 2 and 4 p.m., for registration blanks.

Dies at 92

Mrs. Louisa Hartwick, who lived with her son, Elmer Hartwick, 234 N. Lima, for several years, died April 3. She was 92 years old. Funeral services and interment were in Evansville, Ind.

THE WINNERS in a close Council election grin happily after the final results are announced. The new councilmen are, from left, James Abernethy, Lorance W. Lisle and Milton Emerson.

School Board OKs Higher Tuition Cost

The Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night to pay increased tuition costs to Pasadena as demanded by state law and Pasadena school trustees.

Starting next September, Sierra Madre will pay Pasadena $47,000 to educate our compared with $34,000 we are now paying. The local Board voted to increase the payment for only one year, although presumably additional payments will have to be made for the next four years.

We should actually be paying Pasadena $70,796, but the Crown City School Board has agreed to let us increase the amount gradually each year for four years.

THE LOCAL School Board and members of the La Canada Board met with Pasadena school officials about 10 days ago and discussed the situation. It was reported that Pasadena remained firm. La Canada, however, has still not authorized the additional payment.

Local School Board members reported Monday that we probably are getting the best deal possible and that further delay would serve little purpose. Mrs. Grace Vane, a spectator at the meeting, pointed out also that Sierra Madre has been getting by cheaply so far as tuition is concerned for many years and that we will now be paying only the amount we actually owe.

The situation arose because of a change in state law (Sierra Madre News, Feb. 27).

Board Member Martha Courtant objected to the plan adopted by the four other members. She argued that the design may not leave enough room for future expansion.

Other School Board members, however, said there was little or no difference so far as space was concerned between two plans submitted and that the one chosen is more pleasing esthetically. The Board also re-appointed Mrs. Nathan Jacobs to the City Recreation Commission and agreed to hold a joint meeting with the City Council on Wednesday, April 23.

2 Families Aided by Rescuers

Two Arcadia families, trapped by the rain-swollen Santa Anita stream, were brought safely to Chantry Flats Saturday morning by members of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team.

Earl Bliss and Howard Glen, both of Doolittle Ave., Arcadia, were spending Easter vacation with their families in a cabin near the old First Water Camp. Heavy rains caused the stream to rise to such a degree, it was unsafe to cross. They were stranded on the east side of the canyon.

The Search and Rescue Team was called at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Arriving on the scene, they constructed a rope bridge over the water and guided the families across.

Walking up the slope toward Chantry Flats, Mrs. Bliss fell and sprained her ankle. She was carried out by litter.

Participating in the rescue were Earl, Fred and Edward La Lone, Minor Harkness, Bill Adams and Hubert Herick of the Rescue Team, aided by Charles Raddon and Bob Stropky of the Pack Station.

Final Services Observed for Mrs. Drostenfels

Mrs. Johanna Elizabeth Drostenfels, a resident of Sierra Madre since 1945, died Monday night in the Methodist Hospital following a lengthy illness. She was 78 years old.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Drostenfels is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Elenor Miller, Sierra Madre, and one grandson, Ronald Westerman, also of Sierra Madre.

Services were held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Riple Mortuary Chapel, with Dr. Robert Schaper of Bethany Church officiating. Committal was private in Pasadena Mausoleum.

Mrs. Lusman Resigns as Chamber Veep

Mrs. Peggy Lusman, a tireless and energetic worker for the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, resigned as vice president Tuesday because of the pressure of business.

She was replaced by E. R. Mitchell, manager of the First Western Bank here. Mr. and Mrs. Lusman operate the Sierra Madre Paint and Wallpaper Store.

John H. Curtis, local real estate man, was elected a Chamber director.

Spending Not Answer, Says Hiestand

Government spending is not the answer to this or any other business slump, declared Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand, here yesterday at a meeting of the 48th District Republican Assembly and associated clubs at the Masonic Temple.

"These massive spending projects cooked up by the spenders in control of Congress simply can't do the job," said Hiestand. "As I see it they can do our country vastly more harm than good."

"To those who urge more Federal spending, let me suggest that nine-tenths of the money to be spent represents construction projects. But there's no present unemployment in the construction industry."

"And, besides, the unemployed auto workers, parts makers and electronics engineers are largely unequipped to do concrete masonry, carpentry and other construction work. Added to this, the proposed projects are located hundreds or thousands of miles from the unemployment centers."

"The only sure way to employ the unemployed is 'make work' boondoggles, WPA work, and the average American today wants none of that. He wants a job in production of private industry and that's what we hope to help him get by encouraging industry to create more jobs."

"Tax reduction of a carefully studied type can do much, not for the next few months but for the next few years. An important cause of the present slump, he said, is our out-moded tax structure carried over from wartime and prewar days. It is punitive in principle and makes very difficult the expansion and creation of new jobs."

"We should repeal wartime excise taxes and help small business by special rapid write-offs and exemptions."

"An across-the-board percentage income tax reduction, while throwing us into a deficit for one year, would give a great lift to the economy and provide balancing increased revenue."

"But very clearly and un-

Propositions Are Decisively Defeated

William Lisle, Milton Emerson and James Abernethy were chosen councilmen Tuesday in an election that produced 1,598 votes and the decisive defeat of two propositions regarding the appointment of the city clerk and treasurer.

Lisle, with 960 votes, and Emerson, with 619, won easily, but the third position was in doubt until the last votes were in.

One of the big surprises in the election, according to most observers, was the large vote polled by Emerson in every precinct. Another surprise was the defeat of James McCoy, a member of the Recreation Commission and former president of the Coordinating Council.

CANDIDATES who came in third, fourth and fifth were extremely close and, in fact, the count of 13 absentee ballots next Tuesday could change the results in the fourth and fifth positions.

The total vote was:

Lisle, the incumbent, 960; Emerson, 619; Abernethy, 555; Parks, 508; McCoy, 504; Watts, 400; Fleming, 340; Myers, 287, and Stowell, 122.

The total vote on appointing the city clerk was 671 yes, 864 no. On the treasurer the vote totaled 622 yes, and 895 no.

This means, of course, that the offices of city clerk and treasurer will remain elective.

In only one precinct, the third at the swimming pool, did voters approve the appointment of the clerk and treasurer, a system which was favored by the city administrator and present city treasurer.

THE OFFICIAL canvass of votes will be made next Tuesday at 8 p.m. by the present City Council. Absentee ballots also will be opened and counted.

The new City Council will be composed of Mayor Charles H. James, David Wood, William Lisle, Milton Emerson and James Abernethy. Wood, incidentally, is expected to leave shortly to teach in an eastern college for one year. His position probably will be filled by an appointment.

Edison Co. To Increase Output Here

Southern California Edison Co. proposes to increase the capacity of Sierra Madre Substation, 76 Bonita, to meet the steadily increasing use of electricity here, it was announced yesterday by P. J. Langlie, district manager.

The company expects to spend approximately $65,000 on the project, Langlie said. The transformer capacity will be stepped up by about one-fourth but this will not mean any change in the over-all size of the substation, he pointed out.

Langlie reported that local residences, businesses and industries used 11,891,634 kilowatt hours of electricity in 1956, more than double the usage 10 years earlier, when 4,793,777 kilowatt hours were sold here. Sierra Madre Substation underwent other work in 1954, he noted.

The Sierra Madre Planning Commission has scheduled a hearing for April 17 on Edison's application to proceed with the work.

Age of Miracles

This is truly the age of miracles! A kitchen designer, it appears, has developed a back door which can't be opened until the lucky fellow coming in has placed his feet on an electronic shoe cleaner to eliminate the possibility of tracking up the floors.

THE REASON for this toast to the Space Age? Well, it appears that women, the so-called homemakers, dislike household chores, particularly washing floors, cooking, washing dishes and washing and drying clothes.

And since the males in the family don't like these chores either, the people who specialize in time saving gadgets are constantly at work trying to lighten the burden which the poor housewife must bear.

Thus the distaff side has more time to attend afternoon bridge parties, shop for unneeded hats, attend club bazaars and, in general, occupy herself with pursuits more rewarding than the mundane and dreary task of taking care of a home and family.

NOW IF ONLY a device could be invented to eliminate the time-consuming and somewhat confining process of bearing and rearing a child, what a marvelous world this would be.

Then, along with the electronic welcome mat, science might be prompted to develop an electronic hole in the head which would effectively complete the automation of us all.—H.W.E.

Secede With Danville

Let us pause briefly in midstream of the torrent of universal catastrophe known as "progress" to salute the town of Danville, California, which has seceded from the 20th century.

Thrice blessed among suburban communities of the Contra Costa region, Danville has been bypassed by a new state freeway and its citizens are going to capitalize on this happy circumstance by reverting, as nearly as may be possible on a practical basis, to the nineteenth century when Danville was a staging stop on the Wells Fargo route between the Mother Lode and San Francisco.

MANY OF the town's old buildings including the century old Danville Hotel are in good repair, its atmosphere is that of a less hysterical generation and the "Danville 1858 Confederacy" has the backing of the local Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Professional Woman's Club and other influential tongs and confraternities.

Artists and architects are even now planning to restore the entire facade of the main street to a reasonable facsimile of its appearance in the days of frock coats, Concord coaches and Saratoga trunks.

"COLUMBIA in the Mother Lode has made a huge success by throwing away progress, and there's no reason we shouldn't take a page out of their book," says Danville Chamber of Commerce President Tom Ohlson. He might have added that so has Virginia City on the Comstock. There is a fine Virginia City Bar in the Danville Hotel to complete the continuity.

Danville's hanker to be well shut of the 20th century is part of a pattern of wish fulfillment that appears with increasing frequency as Americans become wised up to the pestilences of the jet age. Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket periodically mutter about getting out of the Union and every time Goody Knight makes a clown of himself there is a new movement for the northern counties of California to secede from Sacramento. This of course is often. (Reprint from the Territorial Enterprise.)

Home Sweet Home

Around the Square

By Tommy-Ann Miller

What happens when a tree falls on the house? A 40-foot black Acacia tree, uprooted in last week's gale, smashed against the house, knocked over a wooden fence and gate, felled a jasmine and plumbago-covered trellis, broke the neighbor's telephone wire, downed several electric lines and knocked seven shingles off the roof.

After the initial hysteria ("Children, stay away from the wires! No! you can't climb the tree!"), telephone calls were placed to persons responsible for the dangling lines. First arrival was a lone telephone man who nimbly re-piped the neighbor. Then came the insurance agent (moaning), husband (groaning), passing friends (who offered help), and kind neighbors (who offered food and shelter). At sundown, six electric co. trouble shooters drove up in two yellow trucks. The men wore yellow helmets, slickers, rubber boots, shock-proof gloves and expression of complete capability.

They maneuvered an enormous crane truck rearward down the sylph-like driveway, and with a series of subtle finger and hand signals (in lieu of shouts), managed to lift the tree from its spread-eagle perch and free the trapped lines. Next dawn, a local crew of two arrived to remove the Acacia corpse—with one red skip-loader, one large red dump truck and one red pick-up. (An aide arrived in mid-morning with an orange dump truck). Branches by branch they axed their skillful way up to disengage the Acacia's roofter embrace. Cars paused in passing (some to kibitz) and kids and neighbors supervised. The electric saw speared mouthfuls of tree dust as it whiningly gnawed the trunk into a scaggy pile of kindling.

Finally, it's yellow-blossomed remains piled high in the trucks, the once-noble Acacia headed for an ignoble end in the city dump. BECAUSE A conscientious column reader (male) responded to the written plea, Happy got his punch bowl. Seems that after the ball, the bowl was washed, dried and relegated to a little-used section of the pantry, where it was unintentionally forgotten—until the borrow's memory was prodded in print.

Now if only Edie can find her Grandmother's ladle! EASTER PARADE. Madre Mountain looking radiant in her lace veiling of spring snow. Not only did Mother Nature douse all the new Easter bonnets with rain, but she also conspired to douse the electricity just about time to dress for church—leaving everyone to bedeck themselves by candlelight.

BIRD BLURBS. Anyone notice the two-dozen buzzards slowly spiraling over our town the other day? Lent an eerie note to an otherwise sunny morning. Also—about 200 seagulls decided to weather Friday's storm in our foothills.

AS USUAL, the Volunteer Fire Department cheerfully hunted the Easter Egg Hunt with neatness and dispatch—and made sure the tinier folk "found" eggs—by policing the grassy areas of the park with cartons of extra eggs and rolling them in the paths of the delighted toddlers.

SAGA OF SARAH. Cut at MacKenzie's, Sarah, a little black banty hen, is determined to raise a family. She abandoned her usual pen, stole her nest away (so her egg output wouldn't end up on the family breakfast table), and laid seven eggs. Through wind and rain she's been sitting and waiting for them to hatch. Which they won't because she has no rooster husband.

The MacKenzie's were so impressed with Sarah's maternal grit that they finally went out and bought seven fertile eggs and replaced her unfertile brooding efforts. And so Sarah sits hidden under a shrub in a clump of vines—ruffling her damp feathers and clucking—her eyes aglow with motherly anticipation.

CREEPER CURSES. The prowler returned to his favorite creeping spot the other night, but when folled by a new padlock on the gate, he was heard to growl, "Curses! Curses!"

TAX INCOME UP. Property tax levies by the 61 cities in Los Angeles County for the current year total $121,697,277, compared with $106,641,837 for last year, a study of the taxes levied by cities throughout California shows, S. J. Arnold, general manager of the California Taxpayers' Association, said yesterday.

Lee Shippey asks
What Do
You Think?

Guess I'm pretty stupid, but if the government spends billions more to pump-prime industry, where is the money coming from except from direct or indirect taxes?

I think the reason business isn't what it should be is that too many controllers of great basic industries have priced themselves out of the market. Millions of us would buy much more than we do if the bare necessities of life didn't absorb all of our incomes, so that we simply have to do without things we want and sometimes really need.

If the fact that you can trade in an old car for two or three times its value on an expensive new car doesn't show that the latter is overpriced, what does it show?

IT IS EASY to blame all the costs of living on labor, but it isn't labor that gets the great salaries and the big bonuses, and as long as the costs of living keep going up labor has a solid fact on which to base claims for more pay.

Seems to me if manufacturers and wholesalers would reduce prices so that retailers could reduce them, the result would be such a great increase in buying that business would again have to expand to keep up with the demand. Wouldn't that be a lifesaver to little business and cost big business far less, in the long run, than either a depression or the taxes that will have to be collected, somehow, to pay for the vast expenditures which may bring disastrous inflation?

Two years ago I was alarmed when the president of one corporation was named "the man of the year" because his company had made more than a billion dollars net profit in one year. If that was to become the ideal of American business, we had control of Congress. Even though the control was paper thin we cut the Truman budget by $10 billion. We cut taxes by $7 billion, the largest reduction in the history of this or any other country. This tax reduction largely benefited those in the lower income brackets, the white collar worker, the blue collar worker and people living on fixed income.

In so doing we were able to create a climate encouraging expansion and creating new jobs. This could be done without spiraling inflation as long as we were able to hold federal spending in line. Thus it was that we were able to hold the cost-of-living practically even in the years 1953-54-55.

But in 1955 the "spenders" got control, began upping the budget and the spending orgy began once more. The inflationary spiral began to spin. You, the worker, the housewife, the pensioner, paid at the grocery store and all along the line for the resulting increased cost-of-living.

BY 1957 the people back home had begun to realize the terrible tragedy of inflation. They demanded economy and "cut federal expenses" was the watchword. With this magnificent support our "Economy Bloc" was able to take nearly $5 billion out of the requested budget. Once more the inflationary spiral was halted.

But this year came the Sputnik hysteria and a business slump. The demagogues seized upon these as excuses for wild spending and to criticize our economy efforts.

Jobs Drop, Prices Up! How Come?

By Robert G. Spivack

WHY DO PRICES STAY UP?—The paradox of the 1958 recession is easily stated, but not so readily understood and it's beginning to worry a lot of people. The economy is in the midst of what TIME magazine calls a "pause for breath." If what we learned in college economics were true prices should be tumbling.

The essence of the "free economy" as we were taught it was this: if the demand falls off the seller lowers his price. When the price becomes attractive enough for the buyer he will take the product off the seller's hands.

But it isn't working that way. Take the case of oil and gasoline. There is so much oil now in the U.S. we don't know what to do with it. According to reliable reports from Texas there are excess stocks of 781,000,000 barrels.

DO THE BIG OIL interests let the public in on this secret? You can be darned sure of the answer and it's "no." Instead the Texas oilmen send up a hue and cry about "foreign" imports. Venezuela, which is virtually a colony of Standard Oil of New Jersey, is forced to cut back on her production. Other small oil-producing nations face the same situation. Canadian oil sales are in bad shape.

The main drive of the Big Oil interests—the little oil man simply has nothing to say about it—is to keep prices high. In many Eastern states a gallon of gasoline sells for anywhere from 32 to 39 cents depending on whether it is "high test," or "regular" or super-duper high octane. Result: many ordinary people who used to go riding on the week-ends for pleasure now stay home and watch television. It's not only cheaper; it's more convenient.

There is a further result: tire dealers can't sell their products. General Tire Co. has been sanctioned announcements on radio that its dealers are overstocked. Yet tire manufacturers aren't offering any bargains.

WHO GETS IT IN THE NECK?—The question of cutting prices resolves itself simply into this: who is going to take the inevitable financial beating that must come with price reductions? If the wholesaler does the cutting while the stock is in his hands he must bear the burden of a profit's reduction.

The only solution that Big Business has come up with so far is to let the laboring man take the beating. He's simply fired and that removes a high cost from the industrialist's budget. But there are other things that result from mass lay-offs.

If a workman cannot buy then the retailer can't unload his stock. If he can't get rid of what is on his shelves then he'll certainly not take off the wholesaler's hands the inventory he is carrying. And then we get back to the industrialist who isn't producing or selling. That's how a downward spiral makes a little recession into a big depression.

THE CRISIS that we are suffering is essentially a crisis of confidence, not simply one of profits.

The big bankers who control credit won't release it until they knew what their cut (interest) is to be and what plans, if any, the government has for stimulating new production.

Thus far we have had two anti-recession measures: a big housing bill and a $1½ billion increase for defense spending. The latter, of course, is sheer waste. For unexplained reasons the Administration would rather build arms and let them rust than help small underdeveloped countries get on their feet.

Reports coming to the office of Vice President Nixon are that the public is growing a little tired of all this indecision by federal officials. A "little recession" may be good for some people; it's obviously quite good for the big commercial banks. They have made a killing on the juggling of interest rates.

But it's no good for ordinary people and it's no good for Republican politicians. Even Democrats run a risk when things stay bad too long. People get restive and begin to talk of "throwing the rascals out" without regard to party label.

RECESSION NOTE—A broken-down old car pulled up to the toll gate at the Lincoln Tunnel, reports former Congressman T. James Tumulty.

"Fifty cents," said the collector.

"Sold," replied the driver.

Your Congressman . . .

'Spenders' in Control of Congress

By Edgar W. Hiestand
Rep., 21st District

When the Eisenhower Administration came in, in 1953, we had control of Congress. Even though the control was paper thin we cut the Truman budget by $10 billion. We cut taxes by $7 billion, the largest reduction in the history of this or any other country. This tax reduction largely benefited those in the lower income brackets, the white collar worker, the blue collar worker and people living on fixed income.

In so doing we were able to create a climate encouraging expansion and creating new jobs. This could be done without spiraling inflation as long as we were able to hold federal spending in line. Thus it was that we were able to hold the cost-of-living practically even in the years 1953-54-55.

But in 1955 the "spenders" got control, began upping the budget and the spending orgy began once more. The inflationary spiral began to spin. You, the worker, the housewife, the pensioner, paid at the grocery store and all along the line for the resulting increased cost-of-living.

BY 1957 the people back home had begun to realize the terrible tragedy of inflation. They demanded economy and "cut federal expenses" was the watchword. With this magnificent support our "Economy Bloc" was able to take nearly $5 billion out of the requested budget. Once more the inflationary spiral was halted.

But this year came the Sputnik hysteria and a business slump. The demagogues seized upon these as excuses for wild spending and to criticize our economy efforts.

We wish to congratulate you on this fine article. Many others, I am sure, have learned as much from this article as we have.

RIGHT-TO-WORK
Gentlemen:
Your article in the recent edition of the Sierra Madre News on the right-to-work issue was one of the best we have read on this subject. We wish to congratulate you on this fine article. Many others, I am sure, have learned as much from this article as we have.

Sincerely yours,
CHAS. H. MARSH
Executive Secretary,
Painters District Council No. 36

HALF-PAST TEEN

NOW THAT YOU'RE GOING TO HAVE A SUMMER JOB AND WILL EARN YOUR OWN LIVING, JUST HOW MUCH WILL YOU NEED FROM ME FOR BARE EXPENSES?

Our efforts to protect your dollar and to keep your government as near fiscally sound as possible.

Our missile program had in fact suffered during those six last years, 1945-51. But since 1953 we have been building a sound missile program. From the $20 million per year plan of the previous administration we had built rapidly and surely to the $2 billion plan of 1956.

But now the "spenders" saw their chance to tee off on every part of the economy that wasn't actually booming. Wherever a weakness appeared it was given the full headline treatment. Well, a mild recession is here. Frankly, I don't think it can be stretched out through the fall elections although that certainly seems to be the desire of many. There are signs and a number of definite indicators that have changed for the better. The economy as a whole is too big to change suddenly, but I believe it is leveling off.

WHAT CONCERNS me most, however, is not that here in Congress the demagogues are screaming for frantic and massive spending. My greatest concern is that the people are mostly silent.

Remember 1933 to 1940? We tried every possible spending scheme, WPA, PWA, etc., and what happened? In 1939 after seven years of it there were 9½ million unemployed. Spending didn't work. It took a war to get full employment. Certainly no one wants a war.

The seeds of inflation are most frequently sown in a business recession. Today all the wild schemes of the past are being dragged out, dusted off and magnified and glorified a "anti-recession-ary." They are highly inflationary, and inflation is permanent and feeds upon itself.

This is the time to keep our heads and to remember the lessons of recent history. Real and lasting prosperity is the result of production and consumer sales only. This can only be achieved as it was in 1953, by creating a climate for business expansion. This means cutting taxes and non-essential government expenditures.

I AM CONVINCED our present recession is in part a result of our wartime and pre-war unsound tax structure. The elimination of excise taxes, an across-the-board income tax reduction and a cut in corporate taxes would do the job. The sooner we can make these corrections the better for the economy as a whole.

What we need is increased production which will in turn make more jobs. I believe tax cuts for that purpose are sound. The claim that tax cuts should be made to increase consumption is not sound. Consumption is at a high level and is staying there, only seven-tenths of one percent less than the peak in history, 1957. Consumer demand is so high that prices are being forced up, not down.

But Congress is in a spending mood. We passed the fourth great appropriation bill, for Health, Education and Welfare without a real battle. Last year we fought it for two weeks and it took 14 roll call votes to pass it. This year it took about two hours. I was shocked, but Congress reflects the people.

Germans Take Over Capri—No Mail

By Edward Lloyd Voorhees

In a few moments, Madame Y returned to the studio with a blond giant of a man, in lounging clothes, with friendly blue eyes and a cordial manner, whom she introduced simply as "Professor Z."

Madame Y excused herself while the professor showed me over their floor of the two-story villa, pointing out various objects from his excavations in the island of Crete. The dining room table and chairs were of hand-wrought bronze in which ancient Cretan designs were reproduced. A translucent bowl of fine alabaster shaped and decorated like an ancient Cretan war shield shed indirect light upon the table.

AFTER A GLASS of wine and a few minutes of conversation I took leave, my hosts going with me through their garden-vineyard to the gate.

On the way, the professor showed me his special pride, an underground cave discovered during building operations. Its character and the dim but authentic frescoes on its walls had proved to the professor's satisfaction that it had been a cell of the very wine cellar of this particular one of the many villas of the Emperor Tiberius. It now served the same purpose for the professor.

I saw the professor only once more before his return to his summer excavations in Crete. But with Madame Y, often at the little beach taking the sun, I frequently sat for a brief visit. Once she mentioned that the professor's health did not permit him either to go into the sea or to take the hot sun of Capri, while she thrived on both. He had been ill and alone, she said, at the time of the Russian revolution, and her family had given him shelter and care as one of their own.

AFTER I returned to America we three exchanged occasional postcard messages, through which they became friends with another Capri couple who were friends of mine. Then came World War II—and no more mail. Rumor said the German army had commandeered Capri as a rest station for its forces in Southern Italy.

Then came Italy's withdrawal from the war, the evacuation of the Germans, and then the rumor that the American army personnel had taken over Capri for their own rest and refreshment. A fair exchange, and a joyous one—judging from that popular song! I eagerly awaited news from my several friends in Capri. It was some time in coming.

Hungarian Recipes Feature Chicken Paprika

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634
Mrs. Wendell (Melitta) Booth, 3755 Denair, was born in Budapest, Hungary, and learned Hungarian cooking from her mother. They use paprika, green peppers and sour cream in just about all of their meat cookery.

They grow a certain variety of long narrow red peppers and dry them, and the Hungarian sweet paprika is made from the shells alone. They dry them on boards. Matter of fact, a Hungarian won the Nobel prize for discovering the Vitamin C value in paprika.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA
3 large onions chopped fine
2 spring chickens (2 lbs. each)
1 tsp. flour
1 tbs. paprika
2 green peppers cut in pieces
5 tsp. sour cream or sweet cream—or more to taste

Saute onions in two tbs. fat and simmer over very slow flame for about one-half hour until it becomes almost a jelly. Add paprika and simmer with onions 10 minutes. Add chicken parts and stew covered for one-half hour. Then add green peppers and salt to taste and allow to stew for one-half hour more. Mix flour with sour cream and add. Bring to a quick boil and serve with galushka.

GALUSHKA (Dumplings)
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 egg well beaten
1 tsp. butter melted

Sift together dry ingredients. Combine eggs, milk and butter and add gradually to flour stirring until dough is smooth and no longer sticks to spoon. Break off pieces of dough about one inch long and one-half inch thick and drop into rapidly boiling salted water. Boil covered for 12 to 15 minutes. Remove and drain. Approximate yield, one dozen small dumplings.

THE FOLLOWING dish was served in the Hungarian Pavilion Restaurant at the Chicago World Fair in 1939. It is served in soup bowls.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH
2 lbs. beef chuck cut in cubes
1 large onion chopped
1 tbs. paprika
4 potatoes quartered lengthwise
2 green peppers cut up
2 ripe tomatoes quartered
1 tsp. caraway seed
Brown onions and meat and simmer for one-half hour in a tightly covered pan. Add paprika, green peppers, caraway seed and tomatoes plus a little water to cover meat. Stew covered for another half hour. Add potatoes and cook until tender.

THE FOLLOWING pastries are delicious.

KIFLI
1/2 lb. butter
1/2 lb. cream cheese
2 cups flour

Mix softened butter and cream cheese with flour to form dough. Wrap in wax paper and chill overnight. Roll out dough very thin on a light floured board. Put teaspoon of walnut filling in centers. Roll up and shape into crescents. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet about 10 minutes or until brown in a 350° F. oven.

FILLING
1/2 lb. ground walnuts
1 lemon rind grated
4 tbs. sugar
a bit of milk
Brush pastry tops with egg learned a great deal about Japanese cookery. She is an avid bridge player and belongs to several bridge clubs.

Her favorite summer hobby is swimming, and the entire family does a lot of entertaining around the pool. She tries to keep a pot of Hungarian goulash on hand for her daughter's friends as well as her own, for a hearty repast after a vigorous swim.

This is one dish that improves if made a day in advance.

Little League Gets $400

A total of $400 was raised last weekend in the rummage sale conducted by the Sierra Madre Baseball Association.

Norman Dumas, Fred Richter, and their wives headed a committee doing all the work of collecting the materials, sorting them, constructing tables and racks and pricing each item. They were assisted by members of the Civic Club.

THE MONEY will be used to buy equipment and supplies for the Little League, Minor League and Babe Ruth League.

The association wishes to thank everyone in the community who helped make the sale such an outstanding success—Harold Roberts for the use of his building, the many merchants who donated merchandise, and everyone who contributed.

The new Little League baseball field under construction at Sierra Vista Park is nearly complete and spectators will enjoy better facilities this season as they watch two games to be played each week starting April 28.

FIRE FLAMES

By Chief James Heasley

Firemen throughout the country are about the most fraternal people in the world. Experience has suggested that this is a fact. (I'm no spring chicken).

The little fireman's hat bearing the insignia of "C.S. F.A." means a lot to a fireman as he travels hither and yon. When he stops at a fire station distant from home, he is met as a long-lost brother. Even "cops" will recognize the fact, and be friendly. However, and be it so, the main object of these gaudy signs is not to promote relations with the expectation of receiving favors.

TO GET to the point, we do not need the signs to acquaint ourselves with firemen and police. We have cards to do that. It is somewhat ridiculous to say that we want to advertise that we are firemen.

The sole purpose of the large and very conspicuous signs on a fireman's car is to indicate to the police and the public that he is a fireman trying to get to the scene of the fire.

Isn't asking too much of the curious, who insist in following the fire trucks, to ask them to recognize these signs and be a little bit considerate and allow the fireman, to pass so that he may perform his duty.

A RECENT fire call proves that many drivers load their families into the car (the instant they hear the very obnoxious fire horn) and proceed in the direction of the fire trucks.

This is not new. When will people realize that the early arrival of firemen is important? A fire in someone's home is not funny to them, nor is it funny to the firemen.

Never, no never, will the excitement of seeing someone else's house burn down fail to bring out the curious. All that we ask of them is to give the volunteer firemen of Sierra Madre a chance to get through. We are really anxious to get there to prevent loss of life and stop damage to property. No foolin', we're serious about it.

We don't adorn our cars with these signs just to "show off," they really mean something. Our local police officers appreciate the signs and look for them.

WHAT PRICE FAME?

Check the foundation of the ladder of fame—the risk may not warrant the climb.

Rudd Brown Oppsed to Cross Filing

Rudd Brown, the endorsed Democratic candidate for Congress in the 21st district, yesterday issued a statement outlining her reasons for not seeking the Republican nomination by "cross-filing."

"I believe the primary election is a cornerstone of a healthy, effective two-party system in our democracy," she said.

She explained that the primary election obligates the voters in each party to select their own best standard bearer for the final runoff election. "If a candidate took advantage of California's peculiar 'cross-filing' law," she observed, "he would actually be subverting the basic purpose of the primary election. 'Specifically,' Mrs. Brown said, 'as a Democrat I feel that I cannot honestly ask Republicans to nominate me as their party's congressional candidate. However, Republicans and independent voters who feel that I would best represent them in Congress may, of course, freely vote for me in the general election in November—and I shall heartily welcome their support after the June primary.'"

"I am grateful that in this district I am not campaigning under the kind of circumstances which apparently compel some candidates to cross-file just for survival," Mrs. Brown concluded, noting that she is "confident of receiving the Democratic nomination without using cross-filing as a defense weapon."

Pasadena Symphony Association Presents 'Don Giovanni' Film

A rare achievement in the history of opera will be brought to Pasadena by the Pasadena Symphony Association April 23, when the complete performance of Mozart's "Don Giovanni" will be shown in color and high fidelity sound.

It will run for a full week at the State Theater, 770 E. Colorado to raise funds for the support of the Pasadena Symphony Association. Albert Szabo, manager of the State, who is cooperating with the association in its benefit, says he expects a complete sellout for every showing.

Widely heralded as unique in its field, the film is no studio production but an actual performance at the Salzburg Festival, birthplace of Mozart, in the magnificent setting created by Max Reinhardt and made possible by special techniques devised by its director, Dr. Paul Czinner.

THE DON is sung by Cesare Siepi. Feminine roles are sung by Elisabeth Grummer (Donna Anna), Lisa della Casa (Donna Elvira), and Erna Berger in the role of Zerlina.

Supporting this all-star cast are the chorus of the Vienna State Opera and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Wilhelm Furtwangler. The latter, one of the foremost Mozart interpreters of our time, is seen in his last performance of Don Giovanni prior to his untimely death.

THE PICTURE is produced by Harmony Films Ltd., of London, a group organized with the express purpose of bringing memorable stage productions to the screen by the use of newly developed techniques.

Tickets are now on sale at the State Theater box office and mail orders will be filled. Early purchase of tickets is advised as capacity crowds are expected.

The showing will be limited to seven days with no possibility of a holdover and little likelihood of the film's being shown elsewhere in the area. Loge seats are $3.50 each; regular admission, $2.50 per person.

Hiestand Bills Are Aimed at Sagging Economy

Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand (R-Calif.) introduced two bills last week designed to stimulate two major phases of the national economy.

One provides that production machinery acquired during 1958 and used in a trade or business may be depreciated over a five year period.

The other provides that automobiles and other motor vehicles acquired during 1958 and used in trade or business may be depreciated over two years.

"These measures," said Hiestand, "will be a shot in the arm to important industries employing thousands of Americans."

"In addition, they will encourage manufacturing plants to immediately replace obsolete equipment," continued the California lawmaker, "avoiding the dangerous situation that prevailed at the beginning of World War II, when many plants were not equipped to handle defense orders because of the lack of modern machinery."

"However," Hiestand added, "my main purpose is to put people to work. What we need is orders and people called back to work to fill orders."

FLY KITES ?

Sure! But fly 'em safely!

Here's how—explains Reddy Kilowatt

1. Fly kites in an open field, away from electric power lines and other overhead obstructions.
2. Be sure string is perfectly dry.
3. Never use wire, tinsel or metallic string.
4. If the kite catches in a power line, let go immediately.

It's BUSINESS BIG GOOD WEEK

The story of... A MAN WHO LIVED BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD... and Sold Hot Dogs

He was hard of hearing, so he had no newspaper. He had trouble with his eyes, so he had no newspaper. But he sold good hot dogs.

He put up a sign on the highway, telling how good they were. He stood by the side of the road and cried, "Buy a hot dog mister." And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders and he bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He got his son home from college to help him. But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? There's a big depression on. The International situation is terrible, and the Domestic situation is even worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son has been to college. He listens to the radio and reads the papers, so he ought to know." So the father cut down the bun order, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

His hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

His son, "You were right, son," the father said to the boy. "We are certainly in the middle of a great depression."

PARDON THE EXPRESSION but WHAT'S WITH THIS RECESSION? It brings to mind the homespun philosophy of America's beloved Will Rogers, "All I know is what I hear and read in the papers." A Board of Directors meeting was called recently at Shopping Bag Food Stores. But when the records were looked at, it was found that BUSINESS IS GOOD!

In fact, since the first of the year new sales records were achieved in three different departments! All it took was a little extra effort... good values were offered, we let the people know about them and they were bought. And this is a good indication, as the food industry affects the farmer, the rancher, the worker in the field, the processor, the trucker, the wholesaler, the retailer... and it affects all of us as consumers.

As far as we are concerned, BUSINESS IS GOOD. So put on your "positive-thinking-cap" and get that B-I-G feeling.

MAIL HATCHERY, WEED
EN, APRIL 10 — California is under a state disaster program due to the heavy damage suffered by the torrid weather. What hasn't mentioned is the extending circumstance that result for the average shareholder during the coming months.

For instance, already we have a crop of weeds that is quickly over-powering our fruit-in help.

Our 10-year-old son, wilted by the lawn mower the other day and raised a white flag. He just couldn't push the mower any more. Before we could get to him he was almost completely obscured by the vigorous growth.

Then you take snails. I don't want them. We probably have one of the finest hatcheries in Southern California. We have carefully planted everything that they consider as delicacies. I'm sure that we could make our fortune right here at home if we could just figure out what to do with the chewing little monsters, and you know that one thing they don't like? Right, the weeds!

We're about to give in to nature and cultivate weeds. Ah, this battle for survival is just great!

MR. AND MRS. Sam Matloff of 1590 Old House Road had a family dinner last Sunday to honor Mrs. Matloff's sister, Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, who arrived from Deer Lodge, Manitoba, Canada, for a month's visit here. The other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Senior, and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Sid White, and Joan and Gary.

THE J. BAXTER Jouvenat, Jr., of 3307 Fairpoint had their two sons and their families for Easter dinner. They included Mr. and Mrs. William Jouvenat, Michael, Stevan, and David, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jouvenat, and James, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, and Mrs. Robideau Williams.

MR. AND MRS. William Sandberg of 1570 Old House Road announced the arrival of their new daughter with cute little French type announcements. The baby was born March 27th, and weighed in at 8 lb. 4 oz. She will be called Dana Barbara. She has two brothers, Brian, 6, and Brent, 18-months.

DR. CHARLES Rasmussen of 1845 Kinneloa Canyon Road returned home last week from a five-week trip around the world which carried him 25,000 miles. He left here Feb. 28, with Paul Connor of Pasadena, and Dr. Harold Carter of La Habra. They went first to Hawaii, then on to Japan to visit Tokyo. From there they went to Hong Kong, China, where they did untold shopping. From there they went on to Bangkok. They were held up for 24 hours due to some kind of Army tests, which means that all transportation was stopped.

They flew then to Saigon, where they took a few days off to go tiger hunting. He shot a tiger and the skin is being shipped back here soon. They proceeded to Athens, spent some time in Rome, where they agreed with the Italian Chamber of Commerce. Just everything is great there.

Then on to Madrid in Spain and Lisbon, from where they flew back to New York and then on home. He brought gifts for the family from every major port of call, and for his children a doll from each country. It was like Christmas in the middle of April. Space limits my relating some of their fabulous experiences, but it was a trip that a man might well dream about.

JOHN CHAPMAN of 1595 Old House Road returned to our lovely California Sunshine. He had just spent a week in Bellaire, attending a managers meeting for Home Life Insurance.

Pasadena Tri Delta Alums Sponsor Benefit Parties

Hostess for the Hastings Ranch area is Mrs. H. Kirk Lewis, 3815 Newhaven Rd., assisted by Mrs. Skipper Rostker and Mrs. Keith Watson.

CARD PARTY hostesses and their committees in other areas are Mrs. James Prentice, 1330 Hillcrest Ave., Pasadena, assisted by Mrs. Lyle Rosenberg and Mrs. Max Harlow; Mrs. E. L. Kennedy, 251 Commonwealth Ave., La Canada, assisted by Mrs. D. L. Williams and Mrs. John Howitt; and Mrs. Joe Henderson, 2205 Los Robles Ave., San Marino, assisted by Mrs. R. The major national philanthropic project of Delta Delta Delta is education. In 1942 the sorority founded the Service Projects Scholarship, and since that time has contributed $245,889 in scholarships to 1,898 women. Over half of these college girls were unaffiliated, since Tri Delta aids promising women students, regardless of fraternal affiliations.

The dinner tonight is in charge of Mrs. Leon McCall, assisted by Mrs. Edmund Neal, Mrs. George E. Sperry and Mrs. Chelsea Bivens.

Plans for State Day festivities April 19 are to be discussed at the meeting, along with the theme, "Building for Tomorrow." A luncheon at noon for all Southern California Delta Zetas will be held at the Petroleum Club in Long Beach, with the principal speaker after luncheon to be Mrs. Betty Marshall Graydon, U.S. Commissioner of San Diego.

Mrs. Graydon, a Delta Zeta and a lawyer formerly of Los Angeles, will discuss "Alumnae Responsibilities and Achievements."

Good Friday Rites Draw Big Crowd

The first three-hour Good Friday devotional service sponsored by the Sierra Madre Ministerial Association at Bethany Church was well attended. Worshipers gathered to hear pastors and singers from seven churches participate in "The Last Seven Words." The offering went to aid destitute and suffering people through "One Great Hour of Sharing."

Churches participating were Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran, Trinity Presbyterian, Church of the Nazarene, First Congregational, First Baptist, Sierra Madre Methodist and Bethany.

mistakenly, wild spending is not the answer."

While in this area, Hiestand inspected the seven debris dams above the foothill communities of Sierra Madre, Monrovia and Arcadia and expressed his very great relief at the way they had held the run-offs of the recent big rainfall.

David H. Allen, vice president, presided at the Assembly meeting in the absence of Col. Charles Morrison, president, who is in Mexico. Mayor Charles James introduced Hiestand, and the colors were presented by the Color Guard of the Third Combat Team of the California National Guard of Pasadena.
